2 Existing Architecture

2.1 Current IT Infrastructure Landscape

The OICL IT Architecture is designed around a central data centre with all OICL offices connecting over a MPLS VPN. The data centers and the OICL Offices have dual redundant connectivity links over MPLS VPN.

2.2 High Level Overview of the IT Landscape

OICL IT Infrastructure is enabled by a 24x7 tier III data centres. Servers and associated equipment are hosted that provide the processing power and storage for manning/managing application programs.

The servers in turn are used to host applications including INLIAS, SAP, HRMS, Portal, E-mail, Proxy, ECM etc. that provide business services to the users.

On top of the application layer there is a network layer that makes these applications accessible from remote offices (VPN) and finally the end user's computer.

The users accessing these applications from their desktops form the top of this logical view of the OICL IT landscape. All the other elements are ultimately to serve the users in performing their business functions.

2.3 INLIAS Architecture

BACK-END: INLIAS is an intranet based application. The infrastructure is hosted at OICL's centralized Data Center. The oracle Weblogic is serving client interface and reporting requirements. The oracle 19c database is hosted on a high-end SUN SPARC server. The OS platform for all the database, application and reporting servers is Solaris 11.

This architecture is similar in Data Center and Disaster Recovery Sites. Users have to use separate URLs for accessing individual sites.

FRONT-END: There is no INLIAS specific client-side software. Users open the application using a generic browser (IE 11 and above) with java component (JRE 8u161 32bit) installed. User requests are received by a load balancer and routed to one of the available application servers. Thereafter a session will be established between client and the server. Users cannot hit individual application servers and all offices use the same URL for accessing the application.

2.4 Biometric Application Authentication Architecture

The Biometric software solution is developed on .net framework and comprises the following broad functional components:

- Enrollment
- Authentication
- Authorization
- Data Management
- Reports

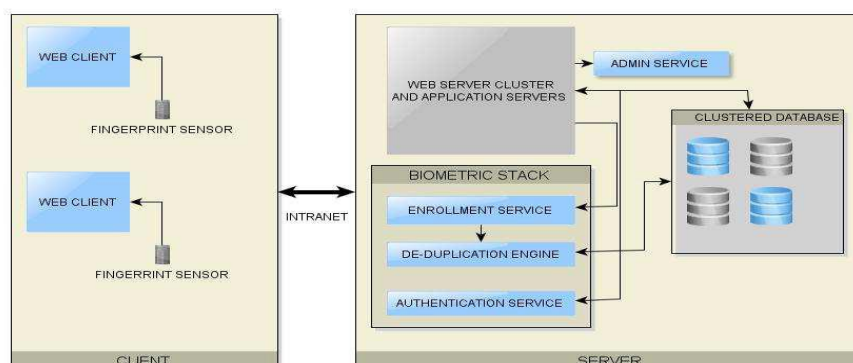

Fig: Client Server Architecture for BAS

2.4.1 Definitions

- SR ID - (Salary Roll No.): This is a unique ID assigned to each employee within the organization. This may also be known as 'Employee ID'. SR ID & SR NO are same.
- User / Employee: These are generic terms used interchangeably to refer to the individual person using the system.

2.4.2 Enrollment

- The user accesses the enrollment page. The page can be accessed via a separate URL.
- User enters his/her SR ID.
- User scans 10 fingerprints. If user scans less than 10 fingerprints a valid reason needs to be submitted. The valid reasons are
 - Failure to scan
 - Finger missing
 - Finger temporary disabled
- During scan the software checks if unique fingerprints are submitted for a given employee. If the finger was previously submitted for a scan then the user is prompted to submit a different finger. This process is known as 'Client side De-Duplication'.
- A single enrollment is valid for all INLIAS User IDs linked to a particular employee's SR ID.
- The enrolled fingerprint data is submitted to the server to check for duplicates across the entire organization at the SR ID level. This process is known as 'Server De-duplication'.
- The enrollment will be valid and the user allowed to logon if:
 - No duplicates are found for this enrollment.
 - Each Office Incharge will provide a list having SRNO, name and designation of employees in the office and also nominate one officer for the purpose of enrollment approval
 - For the enrollment approval purpose there will be two IDs i.e. one office Incharge and second nominated officer by office Incharge in the same office. Either of them can approve the enrollment.
 - The Approver as specified above will approve the enrollments in the system as well as maintain a physical document to confirm enrolment of employees. The copy of this physical document will be submitted to RO/HO.
 - Self-enrolment approval and self-confirmation are not permitted.

2.4.3 Authentication

- User accesses INLIAS login page.
- User submits INLIAS login Name linked to INLIAS User ID and password for authentication.
- If the password authentication is successful then the user is prompted to scan fingerprint for second factor biometric authentication.
- The biometric authentication process can return the following status to INLIAS
 - Biometric authentication Success
 - Biometric authentication failed
 - User not enrolled
- Based on the status returned the INLIAS application will either
 - Re direct page to INLIAS core application
 - Prevent the user from logging in to INLIAS
 - Prompt the user to enroll in order to login to INLIAS

2.4.4 Biometric Authentication solution Integration with INLIAS:

The INLIAS application pre-login page calls biometric authentication page via model window and the employee's unique SR ID is passed as a parameter to the biometric application within a token-verification service. Once the verification process is completed, biometric application returns the data from model window with SR ID and Status (both are in String). The various status codes are Bio Success, Bio Failure or User Not Rolled. For Bio Success, the page is re-directed to INLIAS pre-login page for accessing the application after completion of 2 FA.

Server Platform: Windows 2012 R2, IIS Version 8.5 and MS SQL Server 2012.

3 Scope of work

Unavailable Time is the time involved while any part of the core configuration or system software component is inoperative or operates inconsistently or erratically.
4. The downtime meter is supposed to have commenced from such time the trouble tickets are raised by the OICL.
5. Rs. 5000/- per each percentage of deviation from 99.95 % uptime

Bidder will have to guarantee a minimum uptime of 99.95%, calculated on a monthly basis.

Uptime = (Sum of total hours during the month – sum of downtime hours during the month x 100) / (Sum of total hours during the month)

$$(43200-216)/43200*100=99.50\%$$
